The Institute for International Intellectual Property of PKU (IIPP) is a professional education and research institution of Peking University. Relying on the academic resources of Peking University, home and abroad, with the aims of becoming a world-class intellectual property academic institution and consummating the intellectual property system of China and of the world, IIPP will make all its efforts to seek cooperation with international intellectual property organizations, regional institutions, governmental agencies, academic groups and industries.

The academic group of IIPP is composed of top IP experts of the world. IIPP sets up Board of Faculty, Advisory Committee, Directors, Deputy Directors, full time and part-time Researchers. The Board of Faculty is responsible for decision-making, supervision and instruction of IIPP. Professor Zhang Guoyou, Vice President of Peking University, is the chairman of the Board of Faculty, Professor Paul C. B. Liu, the president of Asia Pacific Legal Institute (APLI), is the Vice Chairman of the Board. World famous experts, such as Mr. Randall R. Rader, the Chief Circuit Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, Mr. Heinz Goddar, the Honorary Professor of University of Bremen, Germany, are members of the Board. Advisory Committee, which is composed of senior IP experts and professionals at home and abroad, will contribute their wisdom for the development of IIPP. Professor Zheng Shengli of Peking University serves the director of IIPP, and Professor Paul C. B. Liu from APLI is the co-director. IIPP has grouped an excellent academic team with the membership of full time researchers as well as over thirty influential academic elites in intellectual property field as part-time researchers.

IIPP is financed by the Intellectual Property Teaching & Research Fund of Peking University Education Foundation. The activities and programs of IIPP include academic research, international academic exchange, education and training of professionals, and professional consultation.